The Green mountains and Cherokee mts., Pitkin county, started up lately, but were compelled to shut down again for want of water. The dry weather is a serious drawback to the quartz mines.

The new oil wells are producing about two hundred barrels per day at present, and the profit, over and above all expenses, is two dollars per barrel, thus making four hundred dollars per day clear profit.

Dobson & West of Chehalis, W. T., lately slaughtered eighteen hogs which netted an aggregate of 5,842 pounds, an average of 326 pounds each. The three heaviest hogs were Berkshires, and weighed respectively, 437, 450, and 433 the day after being slaughtered.

Moline, Ill., July 14, 1881.

H. H. Warner & Co., Rochester, N. Y.

GENTLEMEN: Your remedy, the Safe Kidney and Liver Cure has been used by both my wife and myself. She used it "on general principles," as a system and liver regulator; I took the medicine for a long-standing liver trouble, which has been the source of much inconvenience, and which failed to yield to the doctor's remedy, or any other, until I used your Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. With both units in pronouncing it to be the best medicine ever used, and in recommending it to others as a safe remedy.

Carl Pfeiffer
Mayor of Moline.

Chicago, May 30, 1881.

H. H. Warner & Co., Rochester, N. Y.

My Dear Sirs: For several years I have been a sufferer, and until your Safe Kidney and Liver Cure was suggested I have not known what it is to be free from pain. My family physician attributed all my suffering to a diseased condition of my kidneys, and after he had tried to give me relief, I tried your remedy, and a well-run day.

Thousands of equally strong endorsements—many of them in cases where hope was abandoned—have been voluntarily given, showing the remarkable power of your Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, in all diseases of the kidneys, liver or urinary organs. If any one who reads this has any physical trouble, remember the great danger of delay.

THE SUN.

1882. NEW YORK. 1882.

THE SUN for 1882 will make its fifteenth annual revolution under the present management, shining, as always, for all; big and little, men and women, contented and unhappy, Republican and Democratic, deplaved and virtuous, intelligent and obtuse. The Sun's light for mankind and woman-kind of every sort; but its genial warmth is for the good, while it pours hot discomfort on the blistering backs of the persistently wicked.

THE SUN of 1882 was a newspaper of a new kind. It discarded many of the forms, and a wealth of the superfluous, and went straight to report in a fresh, succinct, unconventional way, all the news of the world, omitting no event of human interest, and commenting upon affairs with the fearlessness of absolute independence. The success of this experiment of betterment, interest, and commendation upon affairs with the fearlessness of absolute independence. The success of this experiment of betterment, interest, and commendation upon affairs with the fearlessness of absolute independence.

By a liberal use of the means which an abundant press staff, and a constant flow of news, we shall make it better than ever before.

We shall print all the news, putting it into readable shape, and measuring its importance, not by the traditional yardstick, but by its real interest to the people. Distance from printing office square is not the first consideration with THE SUN. Whenever anything happens worth reporting we get the particulars, whether it happens in Brooklyn or Boston.

In politics we have decided opinions; and are accustomed to express them in language that can be understood. We say what we think about men and events. That habit is the only secret of THE SUN's political courses.

THE WEEKLY SUN gathers into eight pages the best matters of the seven daily issues. An Agricultural Department of unequalled merit, full market reports, and a liberal proportion of literary, scientific and general intelligence complete the WEEKLY SUN, and make it the best newspaper for the farmer's household that was ever printed.

Who does not know and read like THE WEEKLY SUN, each number of which is a goldmine of interesting literature, with the best poetry of the day, prose every line would reading, news, humor—matter enough to fill a good-sized book, and infinitely more varied and entertaining than any book, big or little!

If our idea of what a newspaper should be pleases you, send for THE SUN.

On terms as follows: For one year, a paper sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post-paid, is $3 cents a month, or $36 50 a year; or, including the Sunday paper, an eight-page edition of fifty-six columns, the price is $5 cents per month, or $7 70 a year, postage paid.

The Sunday edition of THE SUN is also furnished separately at $1 20 a year, postage paid.

The price of THE WEEKLY SUN, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free.

BLOODED CATTLE IN NEVADA.

There is every reason for believing that Nevada's climate is especially adapted to the production of fine cattle and horses. It is certain that such productions are the most independent of all others, of railroads. If cattle and horses cannot be shipped to one market they can be driven to another. The change from common to fine breeds is one that can be made a little at a time. There is a growing interest in this matter, and we hope for great results. The Messenger says T. D. Parkinson & Co., of Kelly creek, have expended large sums of money in the preparation for some of the finest blooded stock in the world; A. Benson, of Beowawe, J. Dean, of Carney valley, Crum & Ferris, Wm. Dunphy, A. Layton, R. V. Kelly and others of the Humboldt, are all wide awake in the necessity of improving their herds. The same wisdom is being displayed in the raising of sheep and goats. We are told that J. Guthrie, of the Sonoma ranch, has paid large sums of money to improve his sheep. So with A. Wilcox and some others. C. P. Bailey & Co. are expending money largely in the improvement of the Angora goat, of which they have a large flock on Mill Creek. Others are improving their herds of horses; and all over the State this wise course is being pursued; and upon the whole we begin to see a prosperous era beginning to dawn upon Nevada in the healthful condition of her stock raising.

THE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The stockholders of the Agricultural Society will soon be called upon to hold their annual meeting. The most important business to come up will be the time of holding the annual meeting. Doubtless it will be freely discussed, and all the points well considered. A representative of this paper got the views of two of the leading members of the Pacific Blood Horse Association the other day, and they favor an early meeting. The first California Fair is that at Sacramento, which begins September 11. Theodore Winters and L. R. Martin both say that their stables will come over if we have our Fair from August 28th until September 2d, thus allowing a week between it and the State Fair at Sacramento. Mr. Martin says the others will come also, and both he and Mr. Winters strongly recommend that time.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A grandson of John C. Calhoun, who is cultivating a plantation in Mississippi with free labor, says: "If my grandfather and his associates had known as much about the negro as I know, and could have had the same faith in his capacity for progress which I have attained from my own experience, there would have been neither slavery nor war."

Congressman Cassidy has the thanks of the Gazette for a copy of the official records of the Union and Confederate armies in the war of the Rebellion.

Oscar Wilde sent his card into the House to Speaker Keifer, and Keifer sent it back with the message that he only received callers at his hotel.

The Gazette returns thanks to Congressman Cassidy for copies of several bills introduced by him.

The State Controller is sending out his report for the year 1881. We acknowledge the receipt of a copy.

TO-DAY'S NEWS

Press Dispatches to EVENING GAZETTE.

EASTERN.

New York, February 3.

To be Hanged with Chains.
A World's Washington special says: A rumor has been put about in connection with General Butler's visit here. Butler, several years ago, defended a district policeman named O'Brien, who was charged with murder. A conviction resulted and O'Brien was sentenced to be hanged. Pending the argument for a new trial, Butler discovered that the old Maryland law, which had descended from the English law and which was still in force here, contained an unrepented provision that a person convicted of murder should be hanged in chains. When the new trial was refused Butler said he should then insist that O'Brien be executed strictly in accordance with law, which did not sanction the hanging by rope. O'Brien's sentence was commuted by Grant to imprisonment for life, so that Butler had no occasion to follow up his point. It was reported he intended while here to suggest to Scoville to demand the enforcement of the law in Guitau's case. Scoville says that advice has not yet been tendered, and that he does not consider it time to give his attention to such matter. The legal opinion seems to be that that point could be strongly urged were it material how Guitau was to be hanged.

Blaine on the Fight.

Washington, February 2.

Ex-Secretary Blaine holds that the controversy he is now engaged in concerning the Government's policy with reference to South America, was referred upon him, and he is fully prepared to maintain his position. He will fight back whenever and wherever he is struck, and his friends insist that time will soon develop the wisdom of his policy. Naturally, the public men here are not disposed to openly take sides in the controversy, but the ex-Secretary has received, and is daily receiving, assurances of strong support.

His Movements.

Chicago, February 3.

Sir Henry Parkes, Prime Minister to the Australian colonies, en-route from San Francisco in a C. P. special car, will arrive at Council Bluffs Saturday, February 4th, and leave for Chicago, arriving there Sunday afternoon. He was accompanied from San Francisco by Col. Dimond, the Pacific coast agent of the P. M. S. S. Co., and met at Omaha by Tisdall, the General Agent of the P. M. S. S. Co. at New York.

Slosson the Favorite.

New York, February 3.

Slosson is the favorite in the pools at 100 to 80 on Vigneaux. Slosson cabled to-night as follows: Vigneaux's score, 2,084; Slosson's score, 2,400. Slosson's average, 73; Vigneaux's average, 55 4-7. Slosson's best run, 137; Vigneaux's best run, 304.

Nothing in It

New York, February 3.

In regard to the story from Philadelphia that a possible clue had been found to the thieves who stole the body of the Earl of Crawford, from the family vault in Aberdeenshire, Scotland, Superintendent Walling said yesterday that it was "nonsense."

Reported Failure.

New York, February 3.

Speaking of the failure of the Union General, a Herald special says: It is reported to-night that one so-called bank, the name of which it is premature to mention in the Rue Drouot, is 13,000,000 francs to the bad.

Bound to Fight.

Chicago, February 3.

A Times' Columbus special says: State Senator Elshburne has been released on $2,000 bail, and has returned to his seat in the Senate. A duel is still most certain to be the result.

Just Think Of It.

New York, February 3.

Barnum telegraphed last night that another (the second in this country) baby elephant was born at Bridgeport yesterday. It is a female and weighs 46 pounds.

Bowery Theater.

New York, February 3.

The Building Committee have ordered some of the walls of the old Bowery Theater torn down and rebuilt for safety.

A New York Stock Job.

New York, February 3.

Very important developments are likely to take place in the Western Union soon. Parties who know what is soon to transpire are buying stock for a sharp rise. The earnings of the company showed an increase last week of about $80,000. Vanderbilt and Gould houses are alike, bullish, on Union Pacific and Central Pacific, and it would not be surprising if closer relations between the two companies came into existence during the next 30 days.

SCOVILLE'S MOTION.

Guitau as Anxious to Talk as Ever.

Washington, February 3.

When Judge Cox entered Court this morning the prisoner was immediately brought in, and placed in the dock. Before taking his seat Guitau looked over to his counsel and said in a quiet and rather pleasing tone—Can I sit at that table, Your Honor, please?

Judge Cox—If there is no objection from the counsel.

Guitau—Have you any objection? Corkhill—No sir.

The prisoner then took a seat at the table by the side of Scoville, and taking out of his coat pocket a roll of manuscript, addressed the Court in apparent belief and with an air of principal counsel in the case, began: "If the Court please, before this motion is made, I desire to correct a few errors that has crept in." At this point he was stopped by the Court.

Corkhill objected to any remarks from the prisoner. Scoville also objected, and thought any thing of the kind had better be postponed until the business before the Court was disposed of. Scoville continued: "If your Honor please, I have contemplated that some additional time should be given for the motion. I also have assurance from a prominent member of the bar that he will assist me next week."

Corkhill asked: "Who is the gentleman?"

Scoville declined to give the name except in confidence to the Court.

Scoville then desired to make a new motion relative to additional grounds he had discovered for asking a new trial. These grounds, he stated, were unauthorized conversations with the jury by outside parties; and, second, the subsequent admissions of the expert who thought Guitau insane but did not dare to say so for fear it might injure him in his business and in public estimation. Scoville read an affidavit sworn and subscribed to by himself, setting forth in detail the grounds stated, and added: "I have not yet prepared for my motion, based upon this affidavit, but presume it will be sufficient if I do so at any time during the day."

Corkhill—May it please your Honor the time for filing such motions and affidavits has passed.

Judge Cox—Well, we will postpone the consideration of this matter until the motion now before the Court is disposed of.

Scoville proceeded to read his affidavits and other papers filed by him, with his motion for a new trial.

Scoville defended Snyder, who was present, and himself from the criticism of the prosecution. Corkhill replied that he would prove that the signatures which formed the basis of Snyder's affidavit are base forgeries. He never supposed Scoville guilty of forgery. He read the affidavit of the jurymen, positively denying having seen the Critic or any other paper during the trial, also the affidavit of Norman Ward that he knew Snyder for fifteen years as a thief and forger, and blackmailer, whom he would not believe under oath; also other affidavits showing the vile character of Snyder, and the affidavit of bailiff Curtis, who had charge of the room where the Critic was found, that the only persons spoken to by jury or bailiff during the trial, were F. H. Snyder, Mr. Scoville and J. H. Hayden. Mr. Scoville and J. H. Hayden, who several times passed the rooms without any established purpose.

At the time Snyder swore he found the Critic in the bailiff's room he (Curtis) was there, and Snyder could not have taken a Critic from the room unless he first placed it there. Bailiff Searies testimony was of the same tenor.

Henry Bragdon, whom Scoville named as a new witness, testified that he knew nothing about the case. Corkhill refused to comment on the affidavits.

Scoville denounced these attempts to blacken the innocent, honorable man Snyder as being on a par with the efforts to give him (Scoville) the small-pox by means of letters. Scoville proceeded with his argument. The case was taken under advisement.
